"TWO MOONS"

It is a rousing tale of love and a western fued. The one time deadly hatred between the cattle men and sheep herders of Wyoming forms the basis of a thrilling story, wherein a cattleman wins the love of a sheep herder's vivacious but charming daughter.

Every moment of the picture has a telling effect on the audience either in thrills or laughs. The story of the picture is taken from Robert Welles Ritchie's well known novel, "Trails to Two Moons." The scenic effects are very beautiful.

Born — To Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Duff, Sunday, April 30, a son.

An Effective Ad.

An Illinois dairy farmer noticed that a yearling Holstein heifer had strayed from his pastures. He immediately advertised for its return, offering as a reward, "a good drink of fifteen-year-old bottled in bond whiskey." The following morning there were twelve men at the front gate with heifers.

Says Ivory Business Should Be Good Here

Good interest is being taken in the town league ball games. The High School defeated the Bachelors by a score of 8 to 5. On Monday the Pros. defeated the High School by 8 to 4. Mgr. McCune is of the opinion that the guy who is on his way from Montreal to buy ivory will sure gather up a bunch of it among the ball players. He is seriously thinking of putting in an order to Winnipeg for a large shipment of ivory to see whether he can soften up the "dome's" a little. However, on the side we believe he is a little more pleased than he would have us believe by the kind of stuff he hands out.

New Theatre Tax in Force

Should Discontinue Use of Small Cards and Envelopes

It is desired by the Post Office Department that the public should discontinue as far as possible, the use of small cards and envelopes for the following reasons:

1.—As a result of the small size of the cards or envelopes the post office cancellation mark frequently falls on the address, partially obscuring it with the possibility that the article may be misdelivered or at least delayed.

2.—There is a difficulty in the post office sorting and handling of small cards and envelopes and this unavoidably causes delay.

3.—There is also difficulty in putting small cards or envelopes through stamp cancelling machines at larger offices, and this causes delay.

4.—The small size of the cards or envelopes makes them apt to fall out of the bundles in which they are tied, and there is impossibility of loss as a result of this.

Responsibility for loss, misdelivery or delay as outlined above, arises from the use of small cards or envelopes, rests entirely with the sender.

undertaken additional responsibility for feeding more people in the famine areas, and that distress is undoubtedly increasing.

Richest Man on Paper!

Henry B. Stewart will be the world's richest man—if he collects. Forty-three years ago he earned $100 on a promissory note bearing ten per cent interest a month, compounded monthly. Stewart sued for principal and interest, and Judge Welsh, of the San Jose, California court, has decided that the debtor now owes Stewart, $803,810,582,912,655. A busy evening can be spent figuring out the full amount right.

It is further pointed out that both the American relief organization concerning the despatch, and in a reply received today, Lord Wardale emphasizes the fact that the report referred to the present programme of the American relief administration.

It is further pointed out that both the American relief administration and the British organizations under Sir Benjamin Robertson have lately

The Miracle Of Spring

Spring has come again with all that it implies of hope, rest, optimism, growth, youth and happiness. Spring, the ever recurring miracle of the ages! It is only necessary to open one's eyes to realize the wonders of Spring all around. Brooks and rivers, flowing like their fiery letters and go leaping, rushing on their way; trees throw out their tiny leaves; seemingly dead and dried grasses after a winter's race of life; birds begin to appear and sing; flowers begin to bloom with song. In a word, nature awakes from her long sleep and thrills with life and the joy of living.

And what Spring means and brings to nature it should mean and bring to all mankind. Just as the cold earth yields to the benign influence of the growing strength of the sun's rays, so man, too, with all his bonds which have been cast off, begins to move again, to live again, to hope again, to dream again, to plan again, to work again, to laugh again, to be happy again, to be healthy again, to be strong again, to be successful again, to be optimistic again, to be full of life again.

Of course, men do, with the coming of Spring and the renewed activity of nature, undertake those duties of the farm which the season brings, while in the cities artisans are again employed in structural works. But Spring means much to all men and women, a deeper, more significant message than mere physical health.

Spring is the season of hope and promise. It is the time of year when all may turn their backs and their minds on the past and look forward with confidence to the future.

The winter of 1921-1922 was a hard and discouraging one for many people. Thousands of men were homeless and even acute suffering.

In addition, it caused a lowering of one's morale, a weakening of one's courage, discouragement, and the development of a feeling of pessimism about the future. Nature seemed cruel, and the efforts of man to withstand its vagaries and onslaughts appeared weak and futile.

With Spring, however, came a happier, smiling mood. It offered encouragement. One's efforts, though slow to be responded to by the kinder mood, and to shake of the gloominess of the feelings of the past, to turn from the dark forebodings of winter, to forget past discouragements, and to face the future with confidence and a brave countenance.

Encouraging the fact, environment, and the atmosphere of a great deal to do with one's state of mind, Spring also gave a positive, vitalizing power to the environment in every way possible.

A man cannot make a success of things if all around him are evidences of failure; progress and efficiency are not born in surroundings marred by sloth and carelessness. Winter always is characterized by a sense of melancholy and despondency, and the material surroundings of the known reveals a much unwholesome view of man's most depressing.

A general "vibrant clean up" should, therefore, be the first Spring duty. Clean up the house clean up the yard, remove and destroy the refuse of winter, repair that broken fence, judiciously employ a little paint. Restyle all those little things which give a new and fresh slant to the exterior, unpolish our appetites and our appetites will do it, and the often on yourself and your family will be amazing. And don't forget to clean up your own thoughts and feelings. Burry out of sight old foreshadowings and gloomy predictions. When washing your house windows don't neglect to clean the windows of the world outside.

Despairing outward condition have a depressing effect on the inner man, but it is from within that must come the will to improve those outward conditions. To allow the sluggishness of winter to continue means, not life, but death. Just as nature throws off the shackles of winter and responds to the appeal of Spring, so must each and every individual refrain from outer despair, from the disengagements and losses of the past and the present, these set us who have been in the present with their eyes fixed on the future and their energies—spurred on by an inflexible ambition to succeed—in constructive work.

A Spring clean up is good business. The removal of waste is always wise. It is a matter of economy. It is a safeguard to health. It has a tonic effect on oneself. It is a service to the individual, and if a material clean up is accompanied by a re-adjustment and betterment of one's outlook on life and its problems, a long step forward has been taken.

France Will Test Motorless Aircraft

Trials Expected to Take Place During the Summer

Trials of motorless airplanes are to take place on an extensive scale in the Department of Aeronautics, in Central France, during the summer.

British efforts in this direction of developing some kind of aircrafts capable of flying about without the aid of motors were generally regarded as having been left in Germany, but the French had now entered the field on a large scale.

Thus far, this is what the bill does:

Cuts the enlisted personnel from 55,600 to 35,600, plus 200 appointments for the use of the body formally known as the Experimental Congress of Motorless

Airplanes, which is to be held there from July 1 to September 1. An additional 2000 men will be elected at the peak called the Puy-de-Dome.

The motorless aircrafts will "take off" from the top of the peak.

Bassano Farmers Complain
"Rosen" Rye Winter Kills Badly

The following is from the "Mail," Bassano — "Last year Bassano rye was boosted to the skies as the hope of Southern the falling down of this seed. Very high prices were paid for this variety last year and some of the purchasers now feel that they were the victims of something like a "gold brick" game."

The foregoing is a measure substantiates experiments conducted on the experimental farm of the prov. University at Saskatoon, report of which was published in the "Express." Of three varieties experimented with, Dean, Advance and Rosen, the latter gave the lowest yield, and 25 pe winter killed. The report stated: "It is evidently safer for Saskatchewan farmers to grow North Dakota No. 950 or the old original Saskatchewan rye developed at the Indian Head Experimental Farm, rather than to change to any of the more recently introduced varieties, except perhaps in a small way as an experiment."

business. It is not always easy to arouse the country newspapers to register an objection because it has for years been a victim of pedlars from cheap city printing houses and the very men who protest against the tea pedlar, the carpet bag-writer, the superior boot agent, or the representative of the People This and That are the ones who patronise the printing pedlar. But the country newspaper has a duty in this regard. In these days of extremely high taxes the merchant who pays the taxes must be protected against the transient who not only pays no taxes, but bedevils local conditions by offering vastly inferior quality at a much lower price. The local man who pays the taxes must be given a chance and if the people will not do it voluntarily the civic governing body must take action. And when action is being taken by these bodies the newspaper merits consideration. — Alliston (Ont.) Herald.

Opposes the above comment many eastern newspapers are commenting on the transient trader nuisance. Whenever conditions at all warrant these shocky city firms are sending out their emissaries. And the same will occur in our town with other western towns within a very short period from now, conditions being favorable unless an obstacle in the form of a business license is erected.

The Hawkers and Pedlars Act apparently does not fill the bill sufficiently.

We doubt if there is a line of business in town that is not against this kind of untaxed concerned in this matter. You may gain a nickel on a few purchases from the transient but you cannot escape being a "sucker" in the pool as long as you are in business in the town and pay into the general tax fund. Collectively, the business places make the town a market place, according to values of stocks, machinery, buildings, etc., they pay to the general upkeep of the market place. When times are at all propitious along comes the transient. He contributes to the upkeep of the town to the extent of three squares and a bed. He gets the glad hand from those with whom he does not conflict, gathers in all available loose change and "hikes" for the next town. And business men collectively give him a cord of welcome to return again by purchasing his goods.

As so much of the taxes are raised on stock, machinery, etc., why cannot a certain portion of this be credited also to business license, and hawkers and pedlers be requested to pay an equal sum before being allowed to do business in town?

Giant Waves Of The Ocean

Liner Paris Encountered 100 Feet High, Captain Murree Says

During a recent storm in the Atlantic, Capt. Charles Murree, who commands the French liner Paris, says that "big waves encountered were probably very high. If this is the case," says a correspondent in the London Daily Mail, "these waves were very much higher than any hitherto measured—higher, that is, than any storm waves, as yet recorded. They were not waves called 'tidal' waves, but more probably produced by earthquake."

Kumatology, it must be remembered, is a relatively new and extensive and accurate observation has been made as to the height of sea waves, their shape, size and width from crest to crest. Some years ago an officer of the French navy made a series of observations in the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans. He did not fully measure 4,000 waves. The largest were seen in a gale in the Indian Ocean. Thirty different waves averaged twenty-five feet in height, the largest being thirty-seven feet high.

These measurements closely correspond with observations made by Capt. Murree in other oceans. It would appear, however, that in the open sea, no storm waves measure more than forty feet in vertical height from trough to crest. Even the famous St. Helena rollers are only about twenty feet in height.

The case is, of course, entirely different where sea meets land. Rushing up into shallow water, waves rise to an incredible height. The greatest bath of all time, however, was one wracked from its fastenings by a tempest, although fixed at a level of fully 100 feet above highwater mark. In a heavy gale from the west came the liner Redoubt, drenched with spray, to a height of 75 feet.

Yet even seas like those fade into insignificance when compared with the terrific surges which smash upon "Jedi's Wife," one of the longest and most dangerous stretches of coast, rising to its topmost pinnacle 250 feet above sea level. At Skermory Lighthouses storm waves have broken with a perpendicular face measured with ease at 100 feet.

The West London Hospital are preparing a new cancer ward and an operating theatre, but the work is being held up for the same reason—lack of funds.

"We are not sure what will be the cause if discovered," said a medical officer at the West London Hospital.

"We are experimenting all the time, and are using the X-ray treatment, but have not had time yet. But it is all experimental."

A doctor at the Middlesex Hospital asked for his opinion on recent progress, declared that he believed in the X-ray treatment, but added: "I am not sure if it can do more than surgery. Remember, once you know the exact location of the tumor, you can get it out with a scalpel. We do not realize the standing expenses of researching the apparatus, the gas, the light, and a thousand other details."

"It is a question of money," that darkens the optimism and confidence of those who devote themselves to this work of research. That one thing is the need of money."

Albania Is Impoverished

War Has Ruined Country and People Are Suffering

Tuberculosis, malaria and influenza are increasing rapidly in the country. The disease is now causing death among towns and villages affected. There is little medicine to be had. There are only a dozen doctors to minister to several hundred thousand people. The Red Cross and the members of the Red Cross are assisting the local authorities in fighting the epidemic.

There are neither hospitals nor nurses in the country. Those who are able to pay are principally pharmacists and druggists with little or no medical training. When the Mohammedans members of the community became ill, they turned to the "sheik" in the village. The sheik, a fanatic Moslem, and he usually heals the end.

Normally the Albanians are a healthy, hardy race, but because of the lack of food and the poverty of the valley, is rife with malnutrition and infectious diseases. The damp, cold winter, poorly constructed houses and bad food have given tuberculosis a firm foothold throughout the country.

The males should not be allowed to run with the flock, as they are the best of the herd. They should permit the shipment of infertile eggs at all times, as a rule, will ensure a better price to the producer and better satisfaction to the consumer.

An Unanswerable Argument

There are said to be 12,000,000 orphans in Europe, and as a result of the war there could be no better argument than this for an effective League of Nations.

According to a 4,000 Persian tax-taker we are now upholstered in Albert, can arm olive-drab as a result of the proprietors' discovery that the cloth could be purchased more cheaply than French material.

Celestial Hose

A countryman called at the offices of a fire insurance company and informed the manager to insure his house and household effects.

"What facilities for extinguishing a fire have you in your village?" inquired the official.

The man scratched his head, paused for a moment, and then answered:

"Well, only the rain!"—Tilt Bits.

A Sky-View to be Taken

At present it is quite difficult to take the service of the airship to show this country how much timber it really does possess.

"Well, only the rain!"—Tilt Bits.

Crusade Against Cancer

Work Being Held Up By Serious Shortage of Funds

The great medical and surgical crusade against cancer—one of the greatest and most terrible scourges in the world—is being held up in every direction by a serious shortage of funds.

"Give us money for research—continuous and indefatigable research to find a 'cure' is the cry of the cancer experts attached to every hospital and institution concerned."

There are signs that the importance of research is being more and more appreciated all over the country. Recently the honorary radiologist at the Manchester Royal Infirmary received an offer of sufficient money to continue research on a new form of intestinal X-ray to be carried out. The cost was calculated at £4,000, and the sum has been placed at the disposal of a committee by the anonymous donor.

"The offers for research are the best," said a well known Harley Street specialist. "Great progress has been made lately. One naturally wants to make the public against the idea of research, but at the same time there is every reason to believe that surgery and X-ray treatment, working side by side and backed up by research, may be the answer to the disease, as far as the right road. If only research is supported worthily, I am sure we shall soon succeed to success."

Lord Atholton, of Montreal, and Sir William Vane, of Manchester, both made generous offers recently. Lord Atholton offered £2,000 for "an approved medical cure," and another £20,000 for research.

The West London Hospital are preparing a new cancer ward and an operating theatre, but the work is being held up for the same reason—lack of funds.

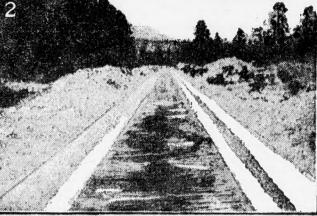

"We are not sure what will be the cause if discovered," said a medical officer at the West London Hospital.

"We are experimenting all the time, and are using the X-ray treatment, but have not had time yet. But it is all experimental."

Soldier Settlement and Irrigation

(1) Intake gates and dam on Okanagan River

(2) Main canal, near Inukto

Irrigation is coming into its own in Western Canada. Pioneers of the older provinces began with an ax and an ox team and were skeptical of the farmers becoming their own irrigation masters. Now the irrigation districts such as the Okanagan Valley, British Columbia, not long since a desert, bloom like a rose through the vitalizing wealth of the waters of irrigation. A large acreage that is being won from nature is the soldiers' settlement land in the South Okanagan—a 2,300 acre tract that is of national interest because of its strategic value to the engineering and agricultural needs of the soldier settlers.

A soldier's first trip through the settlement revealed a country rich in scenic beauty, interesting in old landmarks and marvelous in present activity of transnational character. A soldier's first trip into the lovely valley, extending from Vaseux Lake to the International Boundary. The northerly part of the settlement is 22 miles long and 10 miles wide. The canal for the irrigation is supplied from the Okanagan River, which at point of diversion, is about three-quarters of a mile below Vaseux Lake, and has a width of 266 feet. A concrete pipe 12 inches in diameter is being laid in a permanent way with water 8 feet. The system here will be laid in a permanent way with concrete lined ditches which prevent erosion losses, conserve water and reduce water losses.

The main canal is 25 feet wide at the top, five and a half feet deep and capable enough to run a boat with a 170 cubic feet per second. Eleven miles of concrete pipe will be laid this season and when finished, 22 miles of concrete will be built to the boundary. From the varying disposition of the topography, engineering problems and difficulties are many and varied, unique in engineering in America. Various problems had to be resolved to which included the use of green wood stave pipes and riveted steel pipes, some so inclined in design.

An example of the immensity of the task as well as of the engineering skill required is the construction of thirteen tunnels in nine miles from the head of the main canal to the works. There will be about 17,200 feet of drivable road in the plot and the land here developed under the most favorable conditions with an ample supply of water.

A plant for the manufacture of concrete pipe is one of the principal industries of the settlement.

A demonstration plot will be established near Vaseux Lake, and when completed will be used for testing the soil.

There will be a park for a city and a hospital, school, public buildings and space for all that is required.

The town of Oliver will be the administrative centre of the district.

It is one of the few planned towns in Canada and is not being developed in a haphazard way, but with care and in systematic fashion.

Entirely New Treatment For Bronchitis, Catarrh.

No Internal Medicine to Take

Years ago the professor fought Catarrh with internal medicine, but it left the stomach and didn't remove the trouble. The modern treatment consists in breathing the healing essence of Catarrhoseine, which goes instantly to the source and the trouble is removed. It is a wonder because it penetrates where liquid medicines can't go. The balanced vapor carries the essence of the germs, soothes the irritation, relieves the cough, makes Catarrhoseine disappear. For bad throat, coughs, bronchitis, Catarrhoseine is a wonder. Two more treatments will do it. Send $1.50. See every where. The Catarrhoseine Co., Montreal.

Vertical Flight Problem Solved

Test of Handley-Page Side Wing Proves Successful

The latest tests with the new famous Handley-Page side wing show that the future of vertical and horizontal flights is solved by aircraft fitted with such high lift wings rather than by the helicopter system.

The new side wing carrying aerophores, the first machine fully equipped with the variable slot type of wing, has undergone further test flights.

As soon as the engine was "open-ed up" the airplane jumped straight into the air with practically no preliminary run.

When the slots were closed it showed a very high speed; when they were open the aircraft moved slowly down to practically standstill and descended vertically on an even keel for more than a thousand feet, in a space about as big as a tennis court.

Vertical landing is most important still. It could have been done again from the same restricted space.

The action of this opening and closing wing is similar to the action of a bird's wing when it opens and closes to fly or when it is used for slow landing on a telegraph wire, and when flying from a confined space.

It was invented by Handley-Page in March, 1920, since when Handley-Page's aircrafts have been carrying out experimental tests.

The latest machine is nicknamed "The Heiats," owing to its being said to have 57 different varieties of controls.

The machine proves that this wing is a definite revolution that is going to make aviation a wonderful commercial proposition.

Business Brothers

President Nelson, of Smith College, was making a rather tedious journey and was glad when the man who had the seat in front of him turned around and began a conversation. "I am present on my way to trading salesmen and took it for granted that Dr. Neilson was another." "What's your line?" he asked. "Mine's skirts." "Well, so is mine," said the president of Smith.—New York Evening Post.

Could Not Eat

Constipation caused by a tertified condition of the liver. Owing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and difficulties which it causes, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter:

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seelye's Bay, Ont., writes:

"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had a poor appetite, and just felt like eating nothing. I tried all kinds of medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me. I was told to take Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can highly recommend them, especially to those who are troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."

Tokio's Railway Problem

Carry Millions Passengers Daily on 181 Miles of Line

Within the Japanese Government Railways carry 1,300,000 passengers daily on 181 miles of railroad, the Tokio street cars carry the same number of persons per day on only 181 miles of lines. To do this 1,300 cars are in continuous use, and it is estimated that 60,000 miles are traversed by these cars every day—a distance of more than six times round the earth. It will readily be understood that the over-crowding in cars is a serious matter, and improvements are continually being adopted, the construction of underground railways being now under consideration.

ACHES AND PAINS— SLOAN'S GETS 'EM!

Avoid the misery of racing pain. Have a bottle of Sloan's Liniment handy and apply when you feel it coming on.

It quickly eases the pain and sends a feeling of warmth through the affected part, and relieves the "natural rubbing."

Fin, too, for rheumatism, sciatica, lame back and sore muscles.

Ask your druggist for Sloan's Liniment.

Every Fourth Man Has War Claim

Over 21,000 Claims Submitted to the Dominion G.W.V.A.

The flood of claims for adjustment of matters arising from war service which continues to pour into the headquarters of the Dominion G.W.V.A., at Ottawa, has brought to light the remarkable fact that every fourth man enlisted for overseas service during the Great War considered that he had some claim on one branch of the service or the other had not been properly squared away when he was demobilized.

Since the formation of the G.W.V.A. more than 125,000 claims have been submitted through the various branches. At present 25 per cent of these have been satisfactorily settled.

The "Clean Sweep" Campaign undertaken by the association last fall, and which still continues, has been a decided success, and has thus far been responsible for the submission of over 21,000 claims, of which an average of 23 per cent have been settled to the satisfaction of the claimants.

At present the work passing through the Dominion Command Office, recently stated that the staff was less than half that which would be required if the same volume of work was to be undertaken by the members of the government department.

We congratulate the Dominion officials upon the smooth operation of the adjustment service which involves hundreds of men and women in the various departments, besides a tremendous volume of correspondence.

Indeed, more than 80 per cent of the war service claims received by government departments dealing with such, are submitted by the veterans themselves.

More than five per cent are submitted by other veteran organizations.

When you remember that the Brownies are only about a quarter of the inch in size the Brownie's thirty inches looked fully a mile long to the King.

"It would easily swallow me up!" he said, and then he turned and fled.

He happened to be perched on a thickly leafed branch watching the antics of some chattering Monkeys when suddenly his eyes fell on a Basilisk.

We have made arrangements with the E. H. Heath Co. Limited who publish the CANADIAN POWER FARMER, whereby we are able to offer our farm friends to our own weekly at the one price for both papers.

The CANADIAN POWER FARMER is Western Canada's biggest farm paper. It is now in its twentieth year which means that it is thoroughly established throughout the West. It is a good and practical side of the farm. Every issue is full of helpful hints and suggestions for the use of farm machinery from a washing-machine to a tractor. Its editor has made a trip of several months over Western Canada in a motor car for the express purpose of getting in touch with the farmers. He visited the farmers, lived with them and wrote about them. The results of his trip will appear during the next twelve months.

This offer may be withdrawn at any time. Without doubt your interest is great for us weekly, then why not take advantage now. Your subscription to this weekly with a year's subscription to THE CANADIAN POWER FARMER $1.00 on a bushel of wheat.
